

WE'RE LOOKING FOR A SALESPERSON... (NO, NOT THAT KIND OF SALESPERSON).

And when we say, “salesperson,” we mean a motivated pro with a book of business that deserves flawless and relentless service and results.

We're also referring to an experienced commercial printing sales professional that would rather be a vital and valued asset, rather than a disregarded and dismissed minion.

In addition, we're in need of a salesperson who sincerely cares, but doesn't care for bullshit.

If you've had your fill of taking scraps, making excuses to clients, watching great opportunities be squandered, dealing with compensation nonsense, and screaming into your jacket—Focus 33 has a job for you.

To be clear, total disgust and disgruntlement for your current or former employer is not a prerequisite. We'll also accept applications from pros in decent to good situations, simply looking to do much better, aka, Focus 33.

Quality “sales” are absolutely important, but first and foremost, we're in search of a high quality “person” in our salesperson.

ARE WE LOOKING FOR YOU?

APPLY TODAY BY CONTACTING Chris at CJC@FOCUS33-PRINT.COM

